Heart-warming! Superb!

DEDICATION

Our Lady of Perpetual Help

O Mother of Perpetual Help, thou whose very name inspires confidence,
Help me, O loving Mother!
In all the trials and troubles of life,
Help me, O loving Mother!
Against the seductions of the world, evil companions, and bad books,
Help me, O loving Mother!
O Mother, to my last hour, to my last breath, do thou ever watch over me!
Help me, O loving Mother!

Taken from Solemn Novena to Our Lady of Perpetual Help, December, 1949

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

All successful plays are due to the combined work and efforts of the directors, cast, and scenery men. And so it is that we dedicate these few inadequate words in thanks to those who have inspired us to the heights of Christian thinking, acting, and living.

Through our bishop, school supervisor, pastor, priests, Sisters, and teachers we have come a long way. Our school course being finished, the world awaits us. But we can face the world boldly, for under the competent instruction of these directors, we have learned the true value of life.

We have not only come to a better understanding of science, language, and mathematics, but we now realize that when the final curtain falls on our lives it will be religion alone, absorbed in our youth and put to constant practice, that will merit us stardom in heaven.

CLEVELAND'S BISHOP

Most Reverend Edward F. Hoban, S.T.D., LL.D.
Bishop of Cleveland

HOLY NAME'S PASTOR

Always ready with a cheerful smile and a helpful hand is Holy Name's beloved pastor, friend, and advisor, Father Charles McDonough.

Aiding Namers both in their spiritual and in their academic welfare, Father McDonough's first aim is to make his students alert Christian citizens of tomorrow.

Sincerely we give our thanks to you, Father McDonough!

SISTER ROSARIO, PRINCIPAL

Namers come and Namers go, but we'll always remember one in particular, one who has shared all four years with us, Sister Rosario, friend and principal.

Whether her guidance was sought for spiritual, social, extracurricular, or scholastic matters, her answer was always for our best interest.

Thanks to Sister's ability, things at Holy Name run along efficiently and in accord with the best of old traditions.

HOLY NAME'S SISTERS

"Ring! Ring!" The 2:30 bell ends the day for most students at Holy Name but for the Sisters, who are religious as well as teachers, the day is only half over. There are still piles of papers to correct, lessons to plan, prayers to say.

At present, 29 followers of Mother Seton are engaged in praying for our teams, laughing at our jokes, keeping our secrets, sharing our joys and tears, and preparing us for that day when we shall step out into our atomic world.

The Sisters give everything so that we can enjoy a good, clean, happy youth, doing, now and always, whatever God wants us to do.

LAY INSTRUCTORS, NAMERS ALL

As you're passing through Carroll Building in the afternoon, you can hear the serious toned voice of Coach Ed Heglaw, Senior civics teacher, giving facts about the government, future jobs, and the Pope's Encyclicals.

A co-worker, co-teacher, and "co-pal" is Mr. Ed Moderick, speech instructor. A successful speaker himself, he adds zest to his classroom activities.

As boys' physical education teacher, Mr. Steve Polachek not only plans a well-rounded program of gymnastics and intramurals, but he supplements the usual gym course with a class in health and physical hygiene.

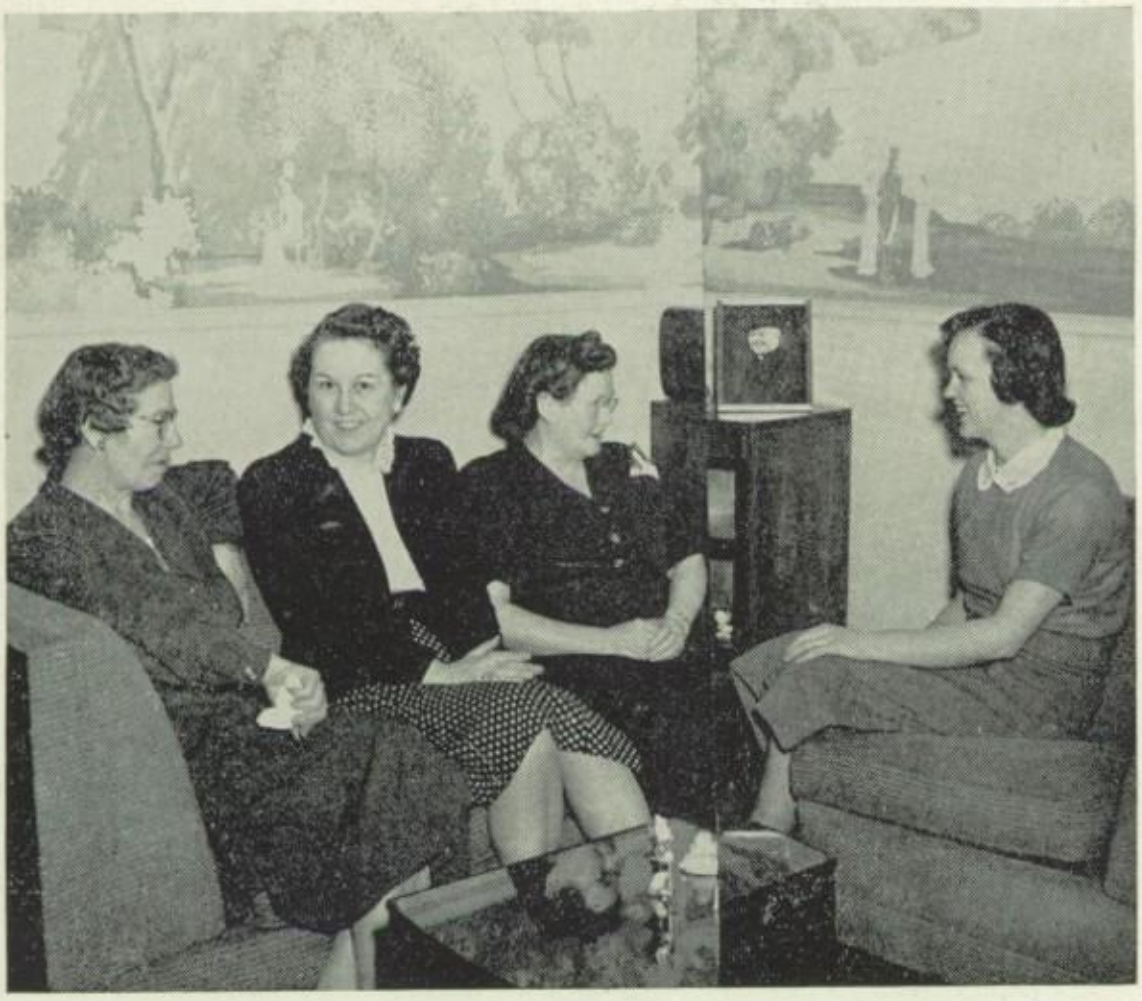
Looking cheerful as could be expected under the circumstances, are Mr. Ed Heglaw, Mr. Steve Polachek, and Mr. Ed Moderick.

Meet Miss Jaqueline Prechtl, Mrs. Joan Kozarsky, Mrs. Ruth Seitz, Miss Eileen O'Leary, and Mrs. Josephine Collingwood.

Three young women teaching in the high school (and liking the experience, we hope!) are Mrs. Kozarsky, better known as Miss Joan Murphy, Senior civics teacher; Miss Jacqueline Prechtl, Junior math teacher; and Miss Eileen O'Leary, physical education instructor, all of whom are on our list of unforgetables as we say," Goodbye, Broadway, Hello, World!"

Two other swell people who need no preliminary introduction, upon whom most of us have depended for encouragement and council during our high school careers, are Mrs. Ruth Seitz, now teaching Grade VIII, and Mrs. Josephine Collingwood, mother of Senior Ray Colingwood, registrar.

HN'S BUILDERS FOR THE FUTURE



Intermission for the grade school faculty: Mrs. Hilda Mc Mahon, Mrs. Catherine Byrne, Mrs Mary Joyce, and Miss Ann Moore.

Teaching little citizens of Newburgh to grow up to be real Holy Namers, and planting in their hearts the first seeds of Catholic doctrines, are 12 Sisters of Charity and four women lay teachers at Holy Name Elementary School, four blocks down Broadway.

Since our future lies in their hands, Holy Name High School salutes them and wishes them the best of success.

Here's a big "Thank You" to all who devote their lives to the Catholic education of Little David, and implant in the graduates of the 60's and thereabouts the ideals of the Green and White.

GOODBYE, BROADWAY -- HELLO, WORLD!

ACT I.

The play begins! Act I is the introduction. It should tell WHEN (1950); WHERE (on the campus); and WHO (1078 Namers). Act I should also introduce the hero and heroine (Jean and Jim,) and strike the keynote of the play —in this case, HN's soaring school spirit. We develop our Introduction in the next pages of our book.

OUR SUPPORTING CAST OF 188 SENIORS

GOODBYE, Seniors! God bless you!

Engraved name cards and pictures of classmates, each bearing its own dear remembrance, split the sides of your wallets today.

Yes, it's time for remembering! As you pass through the doors of Holy Name for the last time, you'll take memories with you, memories which you'll always recall with delight: Football and basketball games . . . Perpetual Help Novena services, just for us . . . Deadline rushes in the Staff Room . . . Council meetings . . . Sodality May Crownings . . . First Friday general Communions . . . Retreat.

And now, Graduation at last! Faculty and students wish you Godspeed!

AND HERE ARE THE UNDERSTUDIES

Dolores Thomas (in background,) Eileen Arman, Elaine Zima, and Dorothy McKee, Junior High Mission leaders, plan a project to aid in the saving of souls. Sister Albertus is moderator of the Junior High C.S.M.C. group.

What have the underclassmen been doing all year? Well, Juniors Lucene Pryble, Mary Santa Maria, and John Murphy came out on top on the scholastic front; Bill Zowie, Tony Munafo, and Paul Supan, also '51, were among those who displayed their talents with a football in their hand.

Sophomores announce that Donna McDevitt, took top honors with her report card, and that Chuck Perkins and Bill Hearns showed skill on the basketball court. Sophs also mention the vocal ability of Marie Cipriani.

Freshmen, whose year of trial has ended, have proved that they are true Namers. Highest averages were earned by Winifred Krotine and Edward Schirra.

Among the Junior Highers, Robert Welsh in 301, Patricia Pawlowski in 302, Jean Piotrowski in 303, and James Rhodes in 304 are leading Quiz Kids.

Upperclassmen appreciate the cooperation of these Little Davids in all school projects and activities. Soon they'll be the Seniors of '54 and '55, and until then, may they continue on as they have in the past.

GOODBYE, BROADWAY -- HELLO, WORLD!

ACT II.

Rising Action! The hero and heroine get into complications. A Big Question arises, which will be answered forever at the conclusion of the play. Here we see Jean and Jim facing the problems involved in classwork, and the reader asks himself, "Will their high school prepare them for life?" Let's see if it does!

RELIGION, BEST PREPARATION FOR LIFE

God can no more be relegated to Sunday Mass. The Catholic of today must be permeated with Catholic ideals, steeped in Catholic thinking, alive to opportunities for Catholic Action.

Religion classes at Holy Name are pointed to these high ends.

Guided by Holy Name priests, and with daily lessons supervised by homeroom Sisters, Namers acquire a solid foundation for adult Catholic life.

Top: Seniors Mildred Drinnon and James Fischer corner Father Karper to clear up a perplexing problem. There's a humorous angle to this one, evidently! Below: Freshies of Sister Annina's homeroom put their efforts in the Christmas gifts and clothing they are packing for a Mission school in New Mexico. They are Jacqueline Bunch, Mary Jean Kehel, Pat Zgodenski, Louis Bertoni, Dorothy Kawalics, Margaret McDevitt, Bill Chinnock, Joe Wielgosek, Donna Hoffman, and John Bubich.

ENGLISH, A TRAINING FOR 1950 PROBLEMS

Since the modern world throws a challenge to Catholics and offers them one opportunity after another to use the basic language skills, no classes, except Religion, are as important as English.

English teachers at Holy Name are: Sisters Rose Alma, Rita Cascia, Clarita, Marie Emmanuel, Helen Marie, Ann Michael, Annina, and Mary Linus.

Four years of English are required.

Freshmen Winnie Krotane, Hank Craft and Shirley Adams are still thrilled at the idea of notebooks. (Top) Russ Ioppolo, Ray Salgas, and Margaret Barren go in for some heavy dramatizing in the scene in De Farge's Wine Shop, taken from Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities." (Bottom, right) Sister Rita Cascia entertains her fourth year English students at "the fonts of English Literature, pure and undefiled," judging by Joanne Mc Grath and Terrence Carey, but Maryellen Cunningham appears distressed. (Bottom, left)

Owen Zidar delivers his oration in Mr. Moderick's speech class with all the elegance of Cicero. The frightened young lady is Rosemary Mahoney, worried about her own material.

SPEECH!

Trying to overcome incorrect and careless speech habits and to develop poise and ability in public speaking of any kind, are those Namers who sign up for speech, under the guidance of Mr. Ed Moderick.

Knowing how to speak effectively is particulary important today, when Catholics must be ready to give a convincing reason for the Faith they profess and the principles they uphold.

Not only do Mr. Moderick's instructions apply to Catholic attitudes, however, but also to the conversation in everday life, which includes getting up in class to answer, directing a class meeting or just talking over common facts with a friend without making blunders in English.

Juniors and Seniors are eligible for all speech classes and may sign up for as many as four semesters.

A PLACE FOR STUDY AND ENJOYMENT

Enlarged this year so that it extends the entire length of the second floor, Scullen Library is a real student's dream-come-true.

Beautiful tiled floors, new lights, freshly-painted walls, murals and good pictures, stacks of clippings and pamphlets, all extend an invitation to quiet study or to reading just for pleasure.

English teachers agree that if students would only read again, they would write better, spell better, speak better, and think better.

Sister Thomas Aquinas, librarian, does her best to promote such desirable ends. "Eighty-two books are taken out each day," Sister reports, "and there are innumerable calls for reference books, and for other materials needed for class preparation."

Sunlit and spacious, renovated Scullen Library is now open for business. The picture below shows a portion of the reference stacks and the charging desk.

'NAME' JOURNALISTS EMPLOY TECHNIQUES

"Quick, Dolores, hand me Page 1!" This is a typical scene when the paper has to be "put to bed." Ed Camille and Dolores Marich are co-editors.

Putting the fundamentals learned in English to profitable, practical, apostolic use are the journalism classes.

Writers on the Name Staff learn to combine good technique with Catholic Action, cooperating with the Diocesan Scholastic Press Association in adopting a special theme each semester.

This year, Staff members have been concentrating on carrying to Namers the challenge of Our Lady of Fatima, the topic agreed on by the Catholic school papers of Cleveland, as a theme for '49-'50.

Sister Marie Emmanuel is Name advisor.

I. Juniors Rita Guerard and Betty Allen at the Staff Room sink taking a sip of a "Lake Erie high-ball," H2O to you. II. Seniors Dick Graham and Tim Kenney, sports writers, ponder over material for use on Page Three. III. Mary Santa Maria and Pat Smith peruse back issues of the Name and the Scholastic Editor.

TO MAKE CHRISTIAN IDEALS PALATABLE

"We aim," say the editors, "to make the Name an instrument of Catholic Action, first of all."

Their attempt to offer a fearless presentation of correct Christian student attitudes, plus their attention to journalistic technique, has merited local Galley Slaves national recognition.

Consistently All-Catholic and All-American, the Name in '49-'50 topped its achievements by bringing home medals in half a dozen contests and the Universe Bulletin trophy, annually awarded the "outstanding" school paper in the Diocese of Cleveland

Prospective Junior possibilities for the title of editor-in-chief are Rita Guerard and Mary Santa Maria, who have proven themselves as fledgling journalists.

I. Charles Gump and Lawrence McCarthy eye the Catholic Universe Bulletin trophy, which last year's Staff won at the Annual D.S.P.A. convention at John Carroll U. II. A regular feature of the Staff is its after-school snacks when deadlines "must be met." Cubs Mary Ann Zergott, Ralph Torowski, and Pat Barnes prepare crackers and peanut butter for "the cherubs." III. Veteran Fred Wright and Ruth Vlnaty, cub, collaborate.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS LEARN

Practical application of their lessons in physics is being made, above, by Seniors Tom Zell, John McCauley, and Ray Kruzel, who are busy repairing lamps, irons, doorbells, and other electrical appliances from their homes.

Miss Ruth De More, registered nurse, instructs Seniors Audrey Mroczek and Josephine Trecarichi (in the second picture) on how to bathe a patient in bed. Sister Rose Alma is faculty advisor for this group, and Sister Angela Mary teaches the "repair" class.

TO BE HANDY AROUND HOUSE

Putting lessons on child care into practice (top picture) are two home ec majors, Arlene Mund and Ethel Dolezal. Children learning the value of fruit in their daily diet are our kindergarteners.

Zoe St. James, Alice Hendrich, Louise Purpura, Florence Vales, Euphrasia Moorman, Mary Kubel, Margaret Burke, and Rose Spenicka (second picture) visit Goodman's Furniture Store while learning to balance the family budget in clothing classes. Goodman's Mr. Dieboldt confers with them.

SCIENCE CLASSES CONCENTRATE

Proud winners in the Water Wheel Contest are Margaret Burke and Frank Novak '53, displaying the 275 water wheels made by other students in Freshmen general science classes.

Ever since the new general science laboratory was set up in the basement of Gallagher Building four years ago, water wheels have been spinning in the annual Autumn Freshman Water Wheel Contest.

This year 275 wheels were on display in the laboratory. Every type of material was used from walnut shells to piano keys.

First prize winners were Frank Novak, 101G, whose red-and-black trimmed aluminum wheel was both large and compact, and Margaret Burke, 204G, who entered a finely carved modernistic model.

The making and testing of pure distilled water keeps Bill Raimer, Frank Cwiklinski, and John O'Neil busy during the chemistry lab period under the direction of Sister Mary Robert.

Climbing to the top of the mezzanine each day, Juniors enter the chemistry lab to learn more about a science that will play a big part in their everyday life.

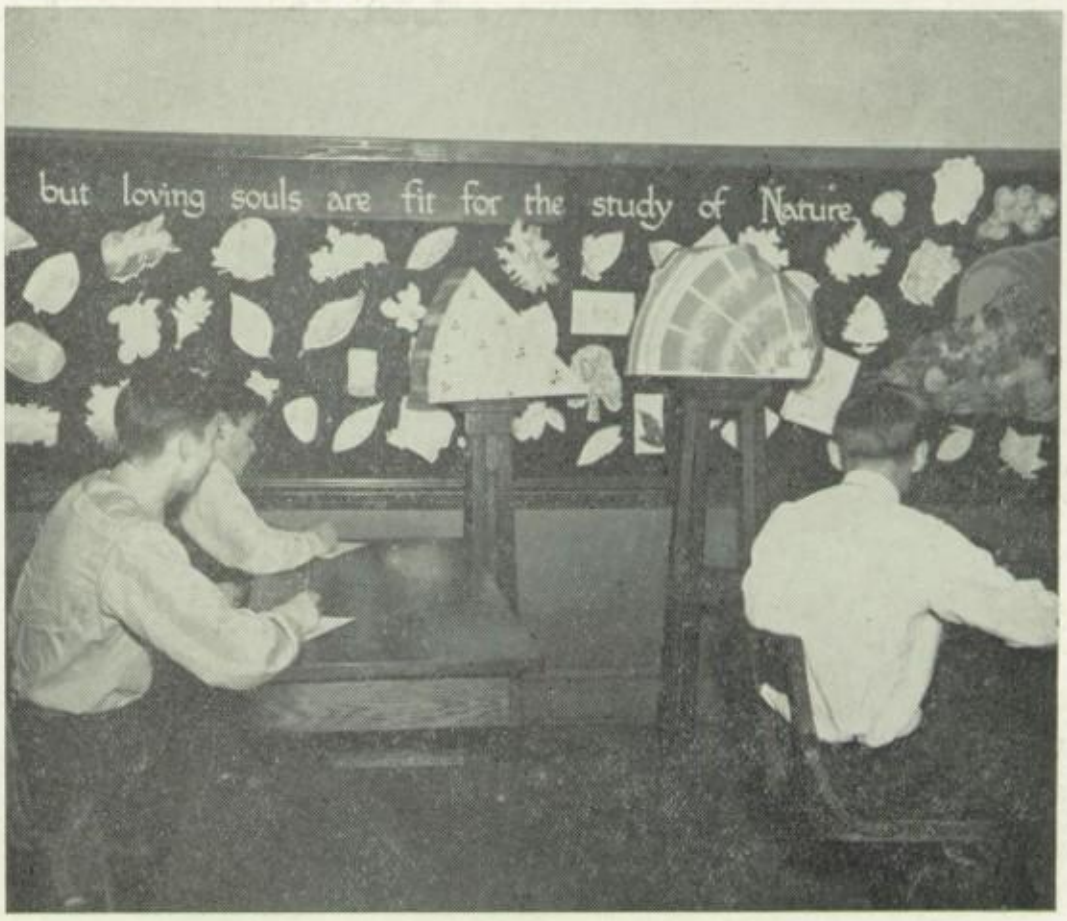
Realizing the practical value of chemistry, Sister Mary Robert not only offers a preparation for college chemistry, but makes a practical application of daily work, including a study of foods, fuel, gardening and drugs, that will aid students in later life.

ON FAMILIAR 'LIFE' APPLICATIONS

This year the biology students observed crate after crate of new equipment being installed in Sister Jerome's sunny biology lab, 205C.

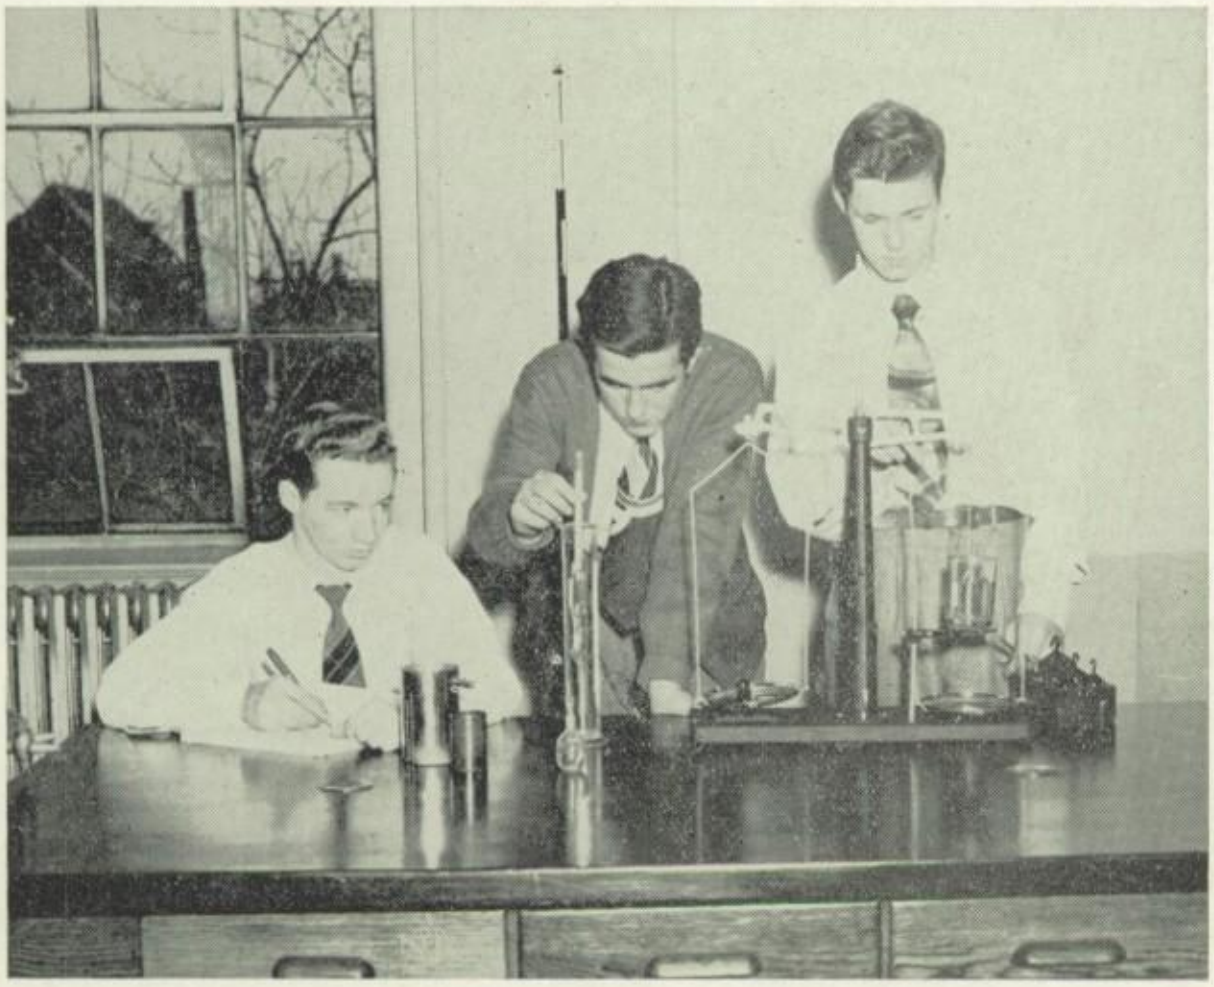
Among the additions this year were forms of dicot and monocot stems and leaves, two new display cupboards, plaques of butterflies and a few spiders, among which were the rare Black Widow, male and female.

The outstanding project, student scientists declare, was the compilation of fruit booklets, with prizes going to Joanne McGrath '50, Helen Klimas '51, Rose Arena '52, and Marcia Schmidt '52.



Drawing from models of a Corn Monocot Stem and a four year Dicot Stem are John Podsedly, James Hyka and Paul Bender, Sophomore biology students.

Al Powers, Bernard Ross and James Davis work energetically over Archimedes' Principle of submerged bodies, to find the specific gravity of a liquid.



Another class which aids many Namers in the field of science, whether used at home or as a preparation for future use in college, is physics, taught by Sister Angela Mary.

The fundamentals of sound and light, the working of the radio, the signposts of weather changing, the significance and use of machines, the measurements of temperature, and the generation and control of electricity are all practical applications of the physics class.

SALABLE SKILLS ATTRACT STUDENTS

"Daily grind" undertaken by Typing 1 enthusiasts may earn them office positions some future day. (Top) Accounting for their shekels in true "Shylock" fashion are Senior bookkeepers Cathy O'Donnell, Alvita Cashiotta, and John Ahern. (Bottom)

Cleveland's business world is peopled with Namers who have made use of the practical aid being offered them in high school.

Sister Mary Conrad's first year typing class comprises 92 students, and Sister Marie Concepta teaches 40 ambitious typists in Typing II.

Also in the business schedule is bookkeeping, in which Sister Rose Alma's 36 students not only learn how to hold down a job in an office but also how to keep their own household accounts straight.

TO LOCAL COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Marilyn Muldoon dictates to a section of the advanced stenography group. (Top) In the office training class, Lillian Gurgol cuts a stencil on the mimeoscope, Alice Praskavick files, Mary Dietz does a problem in calculation, while Eileen McGinty transcribes a letter from a record. (Bottom)

Business education at Holy Name is thorough and complete. Emphasizing both accuracy and speed, Sister Marie Concepta instructs 24 first-year and 15 second-year shorthand students in the intricate twists and curves of the commercial "byproduct of Chinese writing."

Sister also guides 20 co-eds through the complicated routines of operating comptometers, dictaphones, ediphones, and mimeographs in the office training department.

SKILL AND ACCURACY

Juniors Bill Gerard, John Gualtier and Ludwig Prost, ambitious boys, are preparing a plate.

Skills and abilities which may be used on future jobs are in evidence in many classes at Holy Name. In mechanical drawing for example, Seniors and Juniors learn the A.B.C.'s of their work, under the tutelage of Sisters Kathleen Miriam and Angela Mary.

Seventh and Eighth Graders "use their hands" when they construct model airplanes. Perhaps there will be another Orville or Wilbur Wright among them.

Enthusiasts: Donald Kaczmarek, Thomas Sands, Anthony Zambataro, Richard Marlinski.

CREATIVE ARTISTRY

The murals above are examples of the work of the art students taken from the Christmas display. The scene at the top was planned and executed by the entire class; the other is the product of a Lithuanian student, Neola Balcanas, who came to HN this year from a German D.P. camp.

"Art demands great tranquility and to paint the things of Christ, an artist must live the life of Christ," quotes Sister Elizabeth Louise, supervisor of the art class.

Having as their patroness, Mary, Queen of Artists, and as their ideal, Fra Angelico, the author of the above quotation, art students work away busily and produce some worthwhile things, as Namers can testify after seeing the art room displays.

During the past year, art students have also participated in numerous contests and have decorated halls and bulletin boards throughout the school.

SOCIAL STUDIES FEATURE TODAY'S NEEDS

Patricia Fink, Beverly Cermak and Neil Birt look at the world today, and debate on how to attacks would be made on our nation if war should come.

To be good citizens we must know some history, as well as civics, because it is often only in the light of past events that we can properly evaluate present day affairs.

If the world would remember Alexander and Napoleon, it could deal better with Stalin.

Consequently, Juniors are required to take American history, while Freshmen and Sophomores are encouraged to sign up for world history.

History teachers are Sisters Clarita, Mary Linus, Mary Lorenzo, and Marguerite.

Mrs. Kozarsky and Mr. Heglaw teach civics.

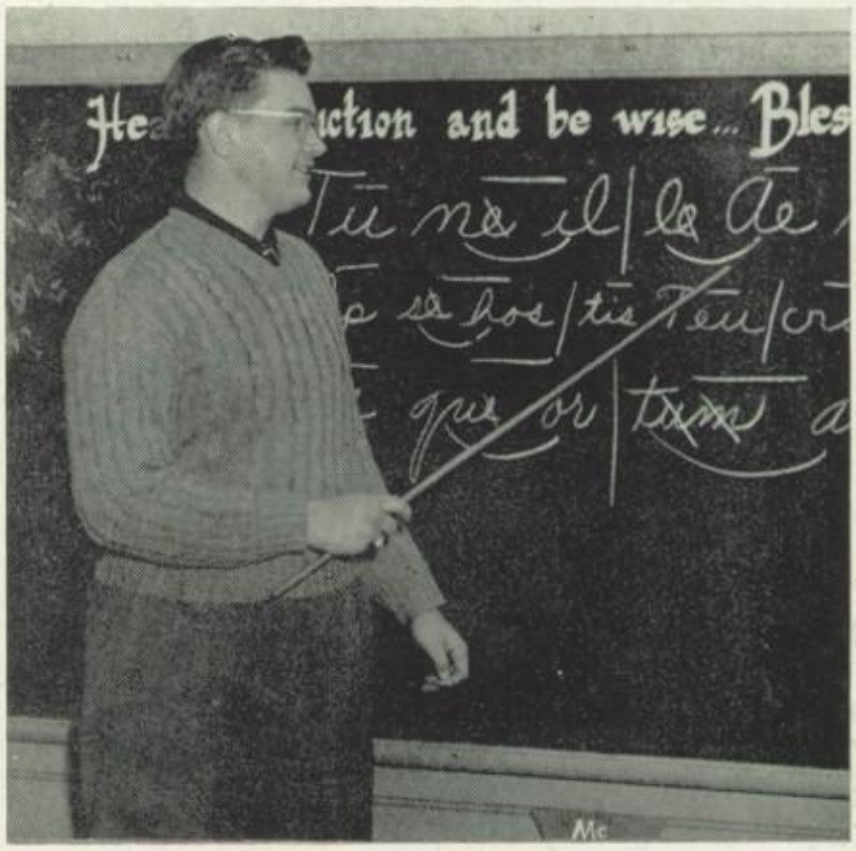
Mrs. Kozarsky takes time out after school to explain the necessity of a job analysis to Seniors Mary Kay Donovan, Ray Collingwood and Gerry Bryndal. (Above, left)
Shirley Pavlin, Genevieve Ruta and Dick Schliecher study the Constitution and Declaration of Independence.

LANGUAGES CEMENT NEIGHBOR BONDS

Another preparation for citizenship through the "good neighbor" angle is French and Spanish, taught by Sisters Mary Conrad and Mary Lorenzo and Miss Jacqueline Prechtl.

French classes say they like to study the songs and customs of the people whose language they are learning, and Spanish groups are contemplating a Spanish club.

For those students who plan to further their education by entering college and for those interested in a classical diploma, Holy Name offers a full course in Latin, taught by Sisters Maria John, Annina, and Ann Michael.



Scanning lines of Latin poetry taken from the Aeneid, is Senior Gerry Vorndran, who managed to take third and fourth year Latin both this year.

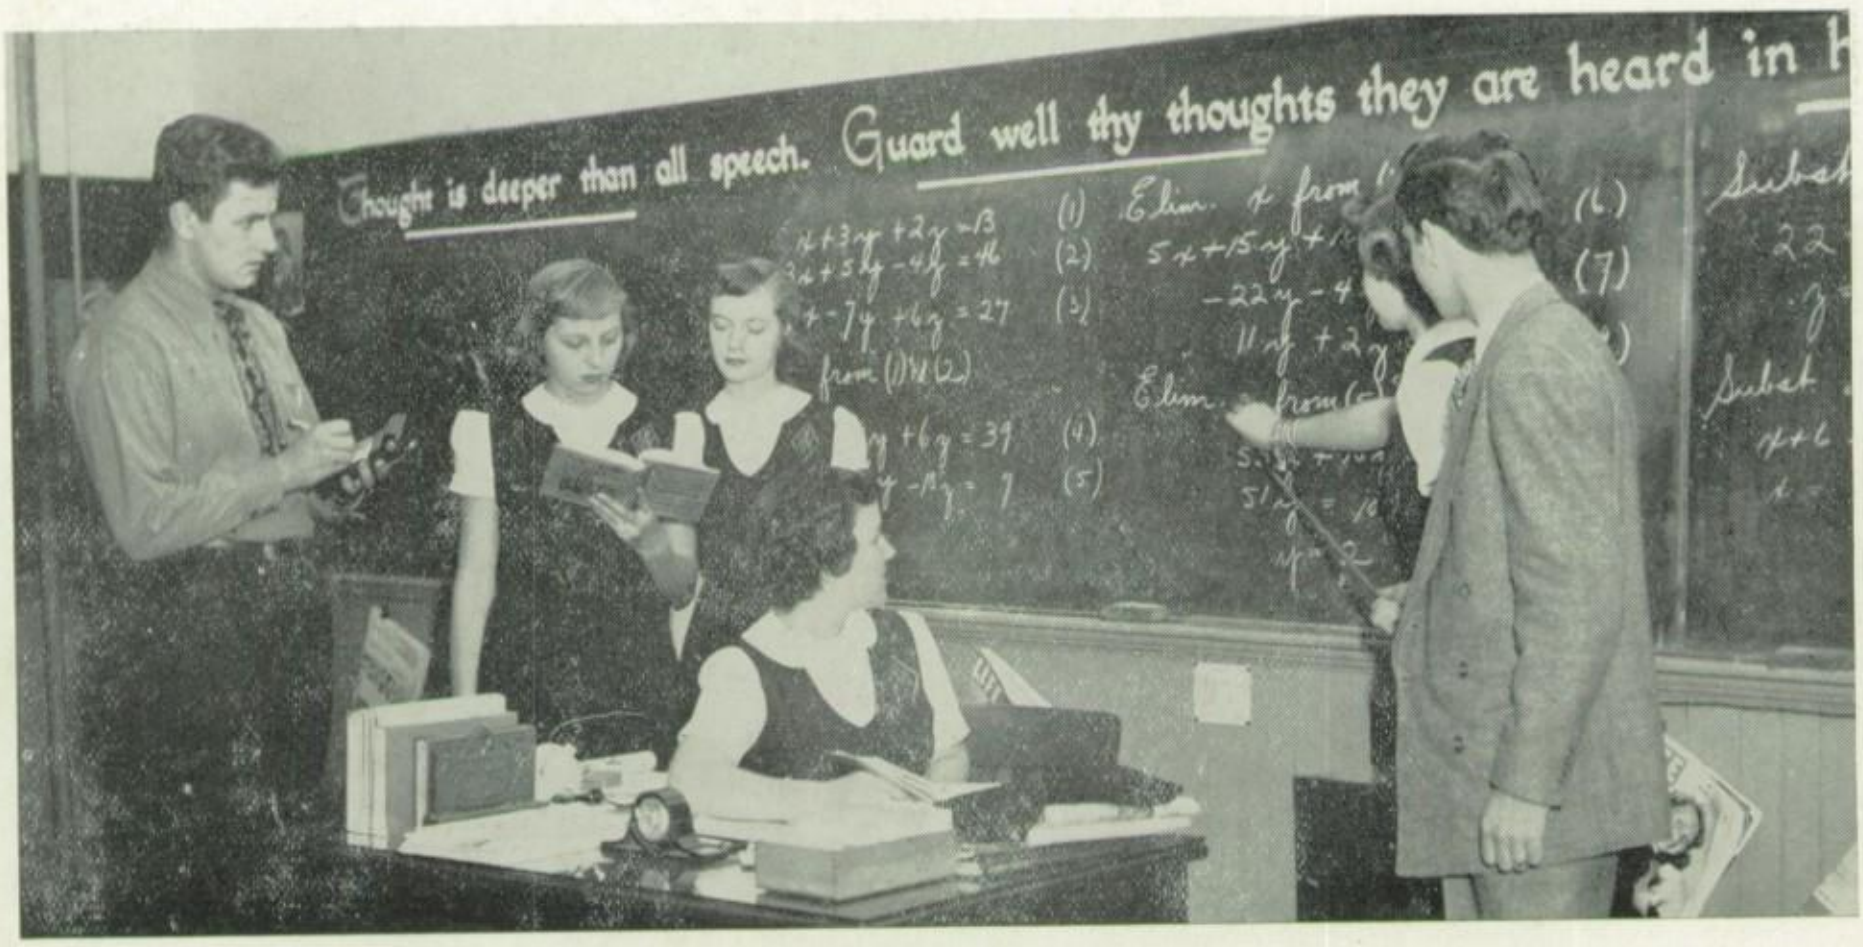
MATHEMATICS -- FOR HOME USE,

Freshmen and Sophomores this year are obliged to take at least two years of mathematics, algebra being a must for Freshmen, and Sophomores having a choice between geometry and social math.

Solving equations and drawing graphs keep 275 Freshies busy in ninth grade algebra classes, taught by Sister Mary Edward and Miss Jacqueline Prechtl.

Sister Jane's and Sister Rita Agnes's Sophomore geometry pupils are doing plenty of thinking, with propositions to master and constructions to explain.

Algebra 1 students, Carole Ann Cye and Kevin Kelly, roll down the wall graph and prepare for some grueling work in line graphs, above. Both spend happy hours learning the fine arts of algebra in Sister Mary Edward's first year class. Below: Scholars of the advanced algebra group show how easy it's done. Teacher for the day, Marilyn Hoffman, seated, supervises the board work. Don Kilrain, Geraldine Kander, Jane Minch and Emil Guilivia huddle around to get a better look. Miss Jacqueline Prechtl is the teacher.



OR AS COLLEGE REQUIREMENT

In social math, also taught by Sister Jane and Sister Rita Agnes, Namers learn practical things, like computing interest, writing checks, and balancing budgets.

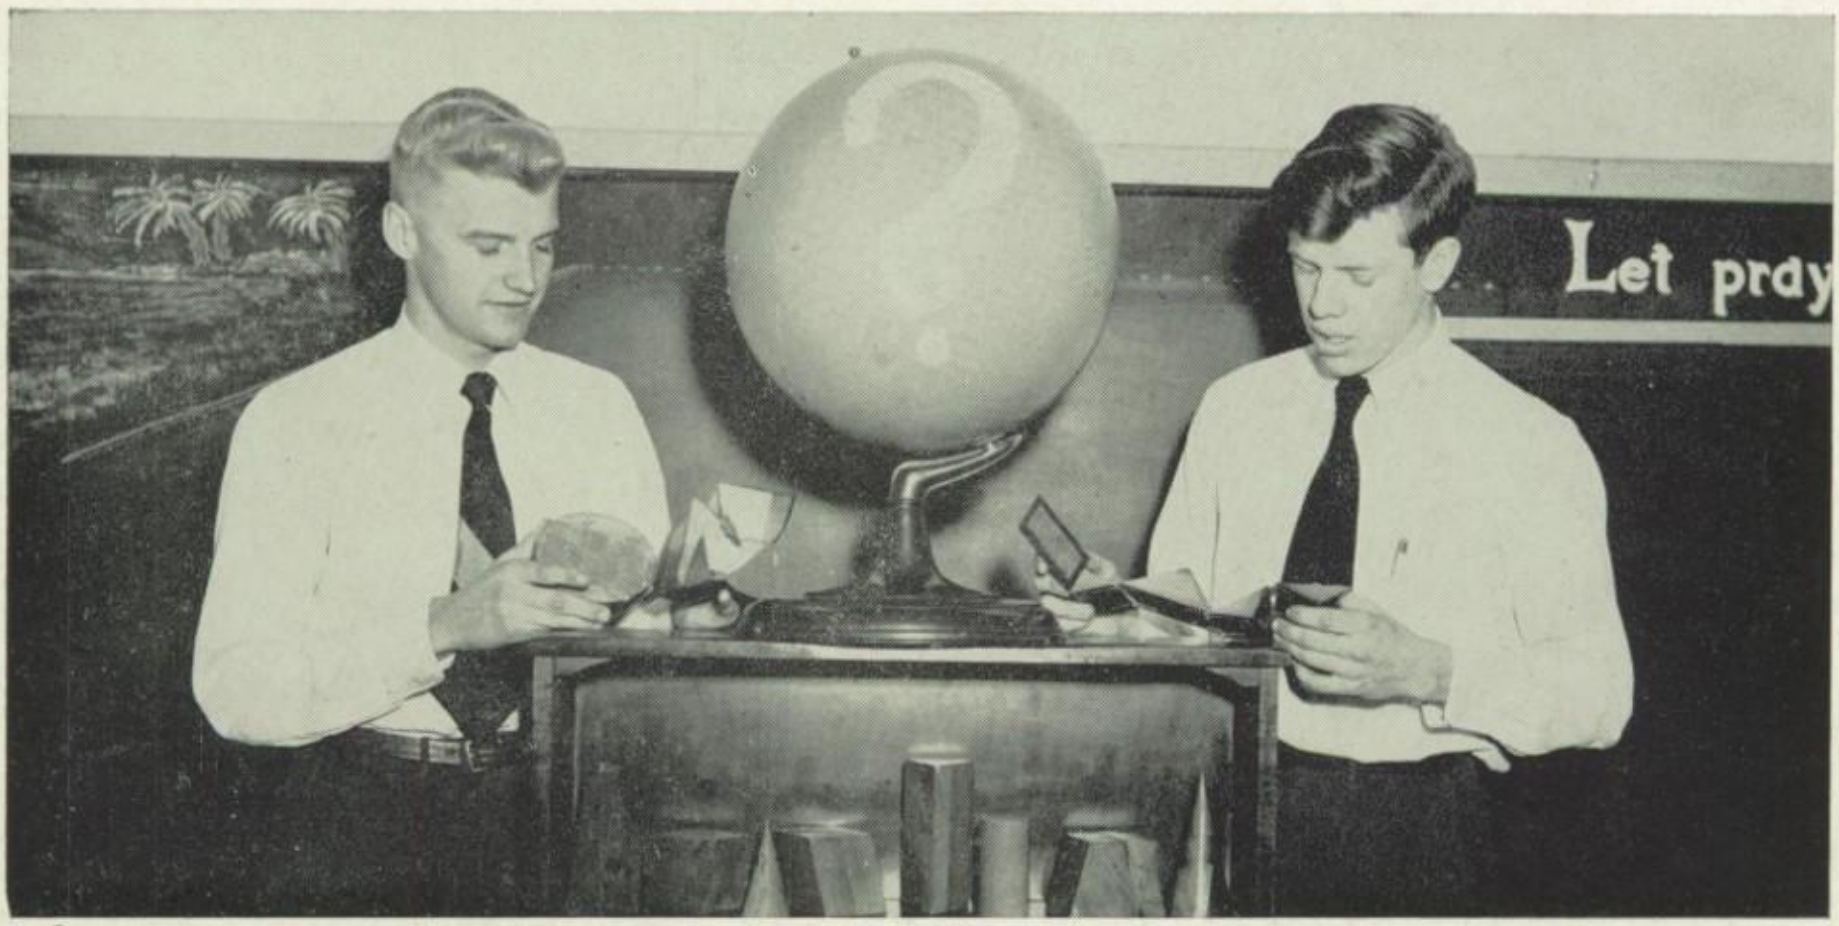
More advanced mathematics are pursued as electives by Juniors and Seniors who wish to choose a career that requires such a knowledge of figures.

Going deeper into the fundamentals of algebra are the Juniors, taught by Miss Jaqueline Prechtl.

Senior students in Sister Rita Agnes's class divide their time between trig and solid geometry, half year to each.

"Well, this is the answer I got," exclaims John Podsedly, above. "See if you can prove it differently." Ready to accept John's challenge are Mildred Kisner and Mary Alice Morton, well armed with geometric knowledge and all the necessary tools.

Below: Not mental tests, just two lively solid geometry enthusiasts preparing to explore the unknown. Pictured are Seniors Jim Velisek and Pat Burns, who are under the tutorship of Sister Rita Agnes.



GOODBYE, BROADWAY -- HELLO, WORLD!

ACT III.

Climax! The hero and heroine reach a turning point in their lives. The Big Question Jim and Jean face is: "Will our high school prepare us for life?" They've been haunted by the query throughout Act II in their choice of courses, but it's their use of religious classes and activities that will decide whether or not school will truly prepare them for adult life.

PARISH

Servers are a necessary part of the parish church. Their duties to the priest and to their High Priest, Christ Himself, are inumerable. They must be loyal and dependable, and eager to serve God even if it means putting themselves out.

Sounds like a religious order, doesn't it? One might call a server one of God's chosen. He is selected and trained by an older server in all the necessary ceremonies. The first Mass that he serves is comparable to the first Mass of the newly ordained priest.

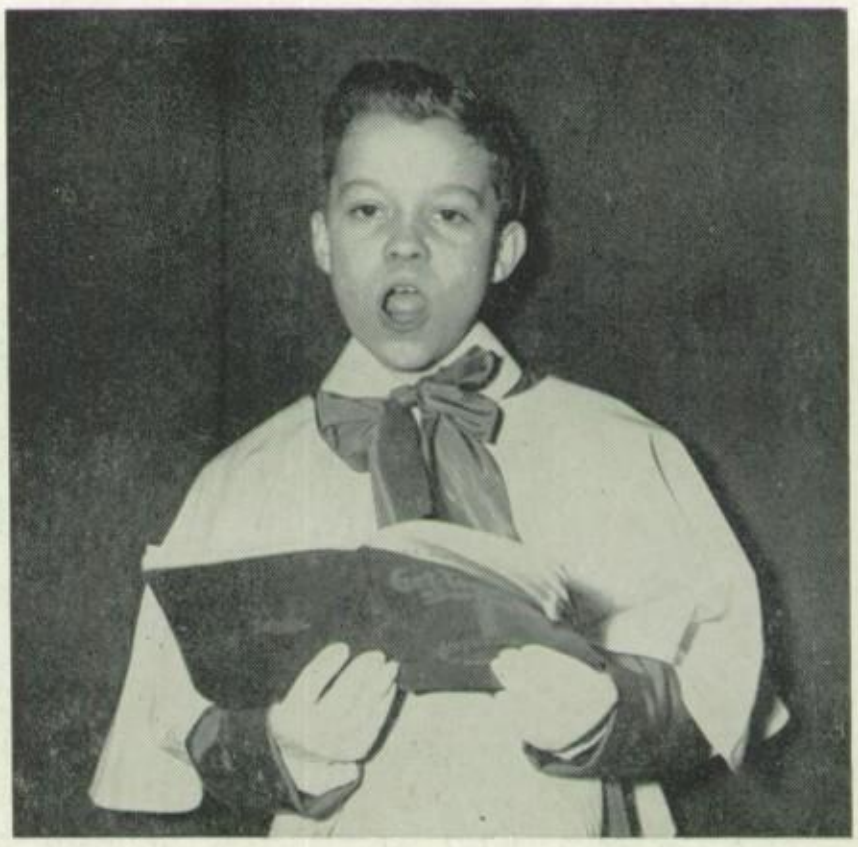
Sister Mary Walter is faculty advisor for HN's 100 servers.



Thrilling those who attend the eleven o'clock Mass each Sunday are choristers of Holy Name's Elementary and Junior High Schools, directed by Miss Josephine Scimeca.

ACTIVITIES

Girls' activities center around both spiritual and social projects.

Of special interest are the annual Mother-Daughter Communion Breakfasts, and the occasional informal "hops."

Moderators are Sister Angela Mary and Sister Edward Marie. Sodality officers (right, top) include Claire Gallagher, Doris Grau, Rita Flanagan.

Helping repair for blasphemous language are the boys of the Holy Name Society, who receive Communion with their Dads on the second Sunday of each month, to pray that all may obtain the strength to overcome such thoughtlessness.

Sister Rose Alma and Sister Aniceta are advisors of the group. Senior Holy Name Society representatives (right. bottom) are Harry Scullin, Jim McGing and Jim Scullin.

Under the direction of Sister Mary Lorenzo, Helen Poh, Patricia Beck, Sarah Stulak, Velma Stulak, and Christine Dragonic (left) help in the cleaning of the sanctuary, go efficiently and quietly about their privileged duty.

Sacristans are volunteers.

Packing food to be sent to foreign missions (left) are Seton Leaguers Mary Flanigan and Dorothy Zepp. S.D.S.'s Helen Ulatowski and Jo O'Donnell select modest fashions (right) for posters for the the December fashion show.

Two hundred Namers in the Mother Seton League carry on the work of Elizabeth Seton, foundress of the Sisters of Charity.

They entertain old folks at St. Joseph's Home for the Aged, carol for the sick in the local hospitals, sew for St. Ann's Infant Home, play Santa for the children at St. Edward's, and pack baskets of food for the poor at Thanksgiving and Christmas time.

Promotion of Father James Keller's Christopher movement, and a campaign to obtain medical supplies and surgical dressings for cancer patients, are also undertaken as part of the League's practice of the corporal and spiritual works of mercy.

These activities, and the S.D.S. Fashion Crusade, locally sponsored by the League, are all under the supervision of Sister Mary Robert.

The Blessed Virgin, portrayed by Grace Flanagan, reveals her message of peace to Lucia (Jean Cecil) and Francisco (Dale King), in the Fatima production staged in March.

Caught in the act in the Mission Rally, "Here Today, Share Tomorrow," were Larry Mc Carthy (center) as Mr. Goldilots, with Geraldine Gallagher, Patricia Soboslay, Maryellen Cunningham, Josephine O'Donnell, and Donna King as his secretaries.

This year Holy Name's Mission Club enrollment snowballed to a new high, making necessary the separation of the club into three groups.

By collecting toys for underprivileged children, crating clothes and books for poverty-stricken parishes, here and in Mission fields afar, selling Christmas seals, passing mite boxes and convincing others to become "Mission-minded," local Mission Clubs have been spreading Catholic Action.

Members meet twice monthly to discuss Mission developments and carry on their plans and work out their projects entirely on their plans and work out their own time.

This outstanding Christopher organization is truly proving, in its own sphere, that "You Can Change The World"!

Sister Marguerite directs the club activities.

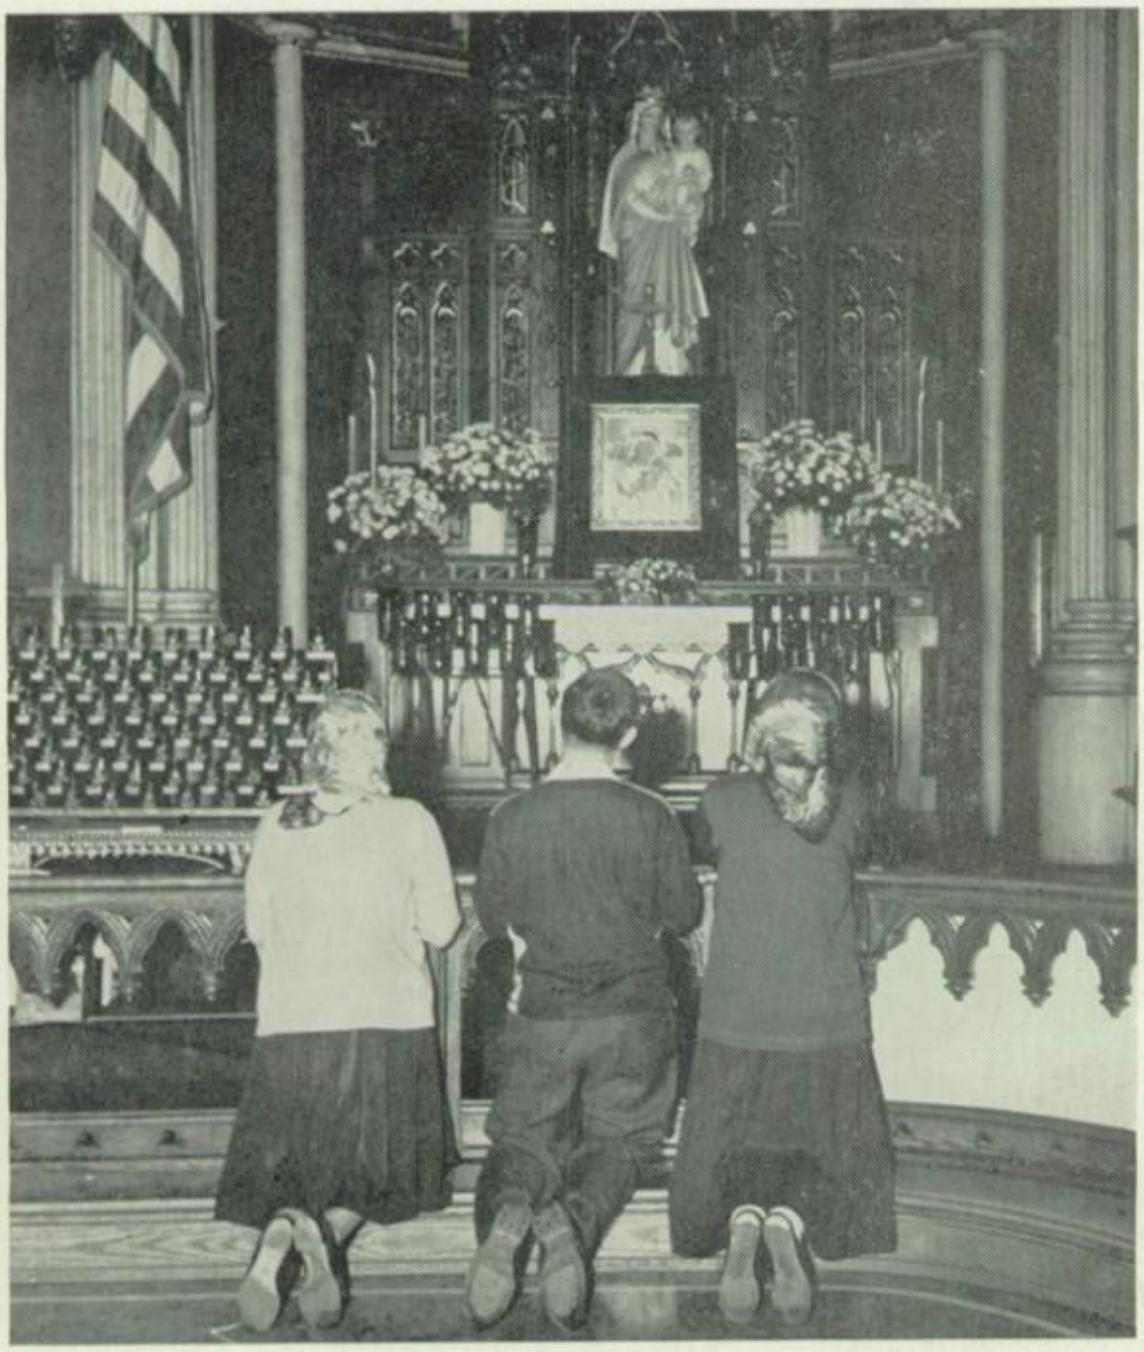
Have you ever had a dream come true? Two years ago the editors of the Diocesan high school papers did.

The Diocesan Scholastic Press Association was the realization of that dream. Thanks to the efforts of a few zealous newspaper advisors, now Cleveland's student editors can work together, no matter what school they attend.

The D. S. P. A. brings these editors together monthly to thrash out common problems and to work out a common goal.

Checking the use of the D.S.P.A. Fatima theme are Bob Scheiman, Mary Santa Maria and Ralph Torowski.



CATHOLIC

Behind every Holy Name project, backing it in the best way possible is the Powerhouse Club. Little David hails this organization as the builder and perpetuator of the famous Holy Name spirit—to paraphrase a noted radio slogan, "The school that prays together, sticks together."

Athletic gains are not the only intentions of the members.

Membership requirements are very simple. Anyone who'll get up a little earlier and join the crowd at Mass and Communion can belong. Dues are acts of sacrifice.

Typical of the scores of students who visit Our Lady every day during lunch hour are three unknown Namers kneeling before her.

Christophers are a nationwide group who take out no membership, pay no dues attend no meetings. They go as Christbearers into the marketplace and strive to restore the fundamental truth which the other 1% are working to eliminate.

Their aim is to enlist a million members.

Here at Holy Name, the Seton League, the Mission Club and the Galley Slaves are all on the Christopher mailing list, eager to cooperate with Father Keller, the founder, Maryknoll's Father James Keller bestows his autograph and blessing on Namers.

ACTIONEERS

Originating in Seton High School, Cincinnati, the S.D.S. has had a rapid increase of members in Cleveland and Akron.

The S.D.S. (Supply the Demand for the Supply) is an organization whose aim it is to adopt modesty in dress, magazines, radio and television.

Members have crusaded schools, clothing stores, and book stores, and have tried in every way possible to promote the spread of the organization.

Style Shows, Holy Hours, and other movements have aided the spread of this drive for decency.

(Bottom) Modest gowns at the Christmas Ball modeled by Gerry Walerski of St. Stan's, Rita Kessler and Pat Meyers of Holy Name.

GOODBYE, BROADWAY -- HELLO, WORLD!

ACT IV.

Falling Action! The answer to the Big Question now seems inevitable. Jean and Jim, having made a wise choice in their class work, and having used well the opportunities offered for acquiring Christ-like principles in religious activities, now go easily from one extra-curricular group to another, giving their time to those which will best help them to a fuller, happier, better life, now and in the future.

Over two dozen Seniors gave up free time during lunch periods for the last four years to be members of the Glee Club. They have appeared in school performances, have taken part in two operettas, and have entertained patients in Cleveland's hospitals.

Holy Namers love to sing. Proof of this can be shown by the fact that one out of every two Namers belongs to a Glee Club.

Throughout the entire school, 500 students have chosen singing as an extra-curricular activity, and judging by the St. Cecelia program, this year's group has lived up to the standards of Holy Name Glee Clubs.

Although girls predominate among HN singers, there are enough boys enrolled to hold their own.

Favorite songs of all the groups are "In A Monastery Garden" and "Out of The Silence."

GLEE CLUBS ENROLL 500 NAMERS

Lithping doctorth, lovely patients, nurses, hypochondriacs, and Mexican senoritas and senoras presented a sanitariumful of songs and gay dances in the Senior Glee Club's operetta, "Oh Doctor," last April.

Practice got into full swing immediately after Christmas vacation, with the main plot enlivened by frequent precarious situations and a dozen romances.

ORCHESTRA MAKES CAMPUS MUSIC

It may be fun to "play by ear," but talented Namers prefer to develop their ability in music by joining the 45-piece Orchestra, though that means sacrificing hours of free time for Monday and Friday practices.

Don't get the wrong idea—these Namers still have time for study, work, and plenty of play. Most of them also belong to the Band and to one choral group or another.

This year the Orchestra covered a field of novelties like "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes" and "The Syncopated Clock," besides a more traditional repertoire.

LET'S SALUTE

After its many years as a military marching band, the Green and White has taken a complete turnabout by becoming a show band, as could be seen by the new formations between halves during football season, particularly.

Yep, Green Wave musicians waltz as well as march now. And the rooters sit up and take notice. They love it!

OUR BAND

"To have a bigger and better band" is the one aim of Holy Name's young band director, Bob Pattie.

Although this is Mr. Pattie's first year with the marching Green and White, he has won the loyal support of Holy Namers. "He knows his Stuff," say students: and the Band proves it!

This year there are 50 accredited members.

No, it's not a blimp or an invasion force from Mars. It's just the scenery set up for a typical weekly rally, 202C's presentation of Mother Goose.

DISPLAYING DRAMATIC TALENT: FOR FUN --

Five of Holy Name's European students pose in a figure from their native Lithuanian Chain Dance, featured in 103C's rally. Standing: Neola Vedegys, Vito (Joe) Muliolis, Danute Muliolis. Seated: Neola Balcuinas, Regina Malcanas.

Any Namer can tell you that it isn't an easy job to produce and direct a homeroom rally. Yet these weekly masterpieces, ranging from reproductions of Mother Goose to dramas centering around St. Peter's Golden Gate, continue to thrill the student body year after year.

Each homeroom in turn has a chance to do its part in raising the spirit of Namers during the football and basketball season. And how Namers anticipate that annual appearance before the footlights!

Every bit of homeroom talent is dragged forth, speakers cooperate, and homerooom teachers worry about just what will happen when the curtains part.

Dramatic scene from the March production of the Seton League. Depicting a Fatima gathering are Theresa Zima, Alice Hendrick, Carol Hoffman, Neola Vedagys, Jeanne Cecil, Danute Muliolis.

OR WITH PROFESSIONAL ANGLE IN MIND

Among the dramatic activities presented for and by students this year, the Seton League Fatima playlet and the St. Patrick's Day program were outstanding.

On St. Patrick's Day, students crowded around the center of the Gym in a special seating arrangement, in order that the entire school might take part in the program dedicated to Ireland's patron.

Glee Clubs, Orchestra and soloists contributed their bit. Sure, and we left the Gym after this program with a bit more Irish in our hearts than we had before!

The Seton League this year took as a theme for its annual production the re-enactment of the scenes of Fatima.

Seniors Tony Morino, accordionist, and Fred Wright, vocalist, entertained Namers throughout their years at Holy Name. Both boys have appeared frequently on television and radio, and Fred toured Ohio with the University Heights Players.

EDITING A YEARBOOK

Juniors Frances Sasfy and Joan Fricker planned the Religion Section. (Bottom)

With special attention given to the creative writing and photographic fields and to literary criticism, Sister Marie Emmanuel and her Staff endeavor to produce, not a "bigger and better" annual, but a book which will prove a treasury of memories for Namers in the years after graduation, and be a source of inspiration as well. It's a year-round job!

DEVELOPS GOOD TASTE

Shirley Hammond, in charge of Senior portraits and Pat Soboslay and Jeane Bejbl, who pasted 850 underclass pictures.

Senior Dick Graham, yearbook photographer, and Fred Wright, editor of the Class Section, confer over a pile of photographs.

Though few annual editors follow journalism as a career, most of them finish their stint on the "Namer" the richer for the experience.

They have made some lasting friendships, they have learned to be punctual, dependable, generous, and cooperative. Best of all, they have had —and used—an opportunity to "speak up for Christianity."

CAMPUS CLUBS OFFER OPPORTUNITIES

Lending their atention to a poster made by John Mascia are the respective presidents of the Retort Club: John Murphy, Christine Kankiewicz, and Harry Husbands. (Top, left)

When Leaguers presented a movie, Nancy Woheber and Charlotte Sypora were operators. (Top, right)

Supervised by Sister Elizabeth Louise, art students, besides making their contacts with paper and paints, enter contests, decorate the halls and develop an all-around ambition to become Christian artists.

- Young chemists, when they are not engaged in the theories of atomic powers or blowing up the school, find interest in the Retort Club.
- Gym Leaders, with their advisor and friend, Miss Eileen O'Leary, enjoy such activities as splash parties, sled rides and weiner roasts. They also prove that they can "trip the light fantastic toe" by their annual participation in the Saint Patrick's Day Program.

TO ACQUIRE POISE, SOCIAL GRACE

"Achievement, Leadership, and Character" is the motto of the Beta Club. Meet Officers James Ward, Ralph Jablonski, Donna McDevitt, Agnes Kremenek. (Top, right)

Gym Leaders declare that co-operation with the school today will make them leaders of the world of tomorrow.

•When not confronted by deadlines, annual beats, or collecting material for the next issue, Galley Slaves enjoy such activities as bull sessions, weiner roasts, Christmas socials, and press conventions. Galley Slaves report, with enthusiasm, that Staff endeavors aren't all work and no play, but that even the work is fun.

•Beta Club, organized last year under the competent direction of Sister Clarita, thrives on Holy Name Spirit. Beta Club's main purpose is to encourage leadership and stronger Christian characters among Holy Namers.

As the Annual goes to press, the '50 Prom is still uncertain. Seniors, however, will remember the scene pictured above: Jerry Wahl and Mary Jane Schuster in the Queen's Dance at the Prom for which grads, as Juniors, prepared.

DANCES --

Friday socials, evenings with the jukebox, tne Halloween Dance, the Winter Formal, and the Prom, of course, all demonstrate Holy Name's attempt not only to enlighten Namers in the scholastic field, but to teach them how to take their places in society.

In a winter wonderland of snowflakes, mistletoe, and holly, Seniors escorting their dates, (coeds all dressed in accordance with the S.D.S. campaign,) set forth for an evening of enjoyment at the annual Christmas Ball, which is, according to Seniors' vote, Holy Name's "Top Social."

Silver snow flakes, blue and silver trees, the tinkle of chimes and the fragrance of pine, all lend local color to the Gym when Seniors and their dates meet for the Annual Christmas Ball.

AND BALLS!

At last—the answer to co-ed's dreams, the annual Junior-Senior Prom! Holy Name's gym is romantically transformed into a bower of roses or a peaceful Southern Plantation, by the guiding hands of Junior homeroom Sisters and their students. There's sweet music and a grand march and a floor show, lovely programs and favors.

Then as a climax to the evening, comes the crowning of Holy Name's Special Queen, Our Lady of Perpetual Help.

P. S.: Catherine Walsh was voted '50 Prom Queen!

One of the frequent jukebox dances in Holy Name's Gym. Sponsored by the Sodality, the Council, and other organizations, the half dozen jukebox dances yearly offer pleasant diversion at rates all can afford. Looks like fun!

One of the highlights of the social year is the Military Ball, for the band members of Holy Name, Benedictine, St. Ignatius and Cathedral Latin, and their partners.

PERFECT COMBINE

The "Big Three": Coaches Polachek, Heglaw, Moderick.

Making a miracle man out of Littttle David is the endeavor of the Green Wave coaching staff.

At times when most people lose their patience, these calm leaders slowly count ten and go on with their work. Whether they are acting the professor behind a book- laden desk, coaching any type of athletics, or pacing back and forth at a nerve-wracking game, these are the men to whom all Namers pay an affectionate, respectful tribute.

Namers could boast of a shifty, powerful juggernaut this past season.

- Davey's first tilt, with his traditional rival, Benedictine, was played at John Adams in the pouring rain. Relinquishing their 6-0 half time lead, the Namers suffered a bitter 7-6 defeat when the Bengals scored in the last few minutes of play and made good the conversion.
- Smashing to a dynamic 45-14 victory, the Green Wave crushed an inexperienced West Tech eleven, in HN's first Senate game.
- With one Senate victory under their belts, the Heglaw eleven trounced Rhodes, 26-14, in their third week's battle.
- Next to fall under the rushing Irish attack were the Marshall Lawyers, who found themselves on the far end of a 21-7 score.
- Led by Captain Joe Ziccardi, the Big Green met a battling South High eleven, and suffered a last-minute 12-6 defeat, which temporarily halted a victory streak.

ON HN GRIDIRON

Already much a part of Holy Name is Father Hughes.

It was Friday. Another rally, another game. But a note of tension could be felt. Father James McIntyre had left his post as Holy Name Athletic Director to work for the Missions, and an "unknown" was taking his place.

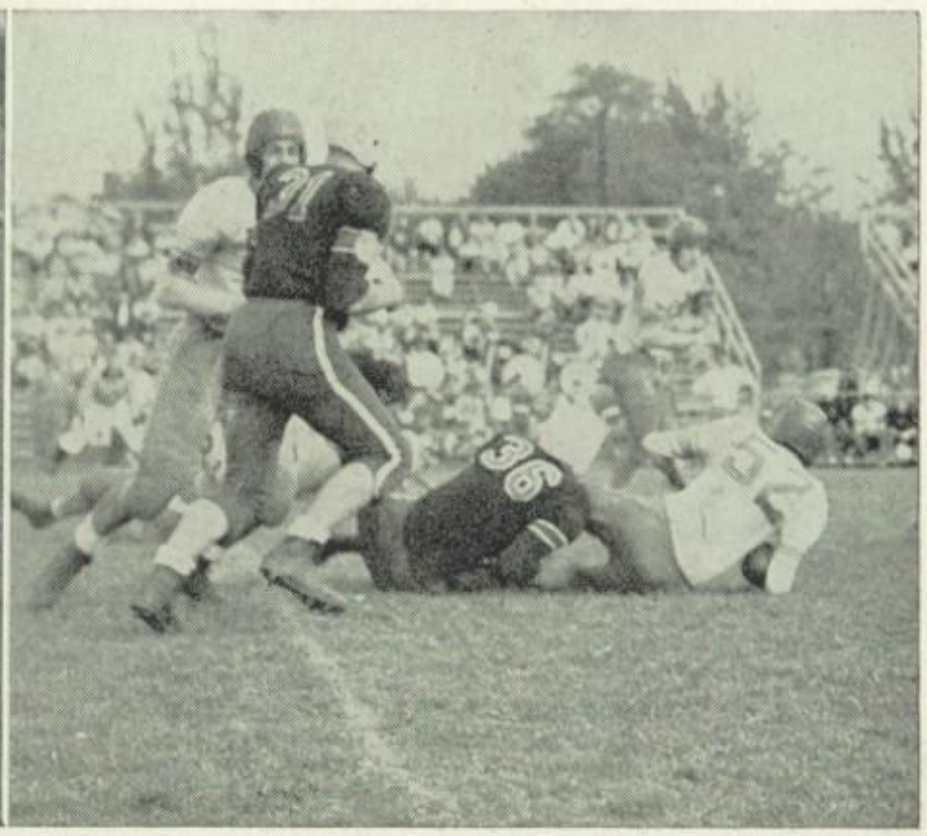
That was back in September. By now, who has not heard of Father James Hughes? He has become a 100% Namer during the past months, and is acknowledged already as one of the ablest men Holy Name has had the privilege of knowing.

Holy Name highlighted the '49 football season in the fray with our perpetual rival, Latin. Trailing by a 6-0 score in the third quarter, with 37 seconds to play, Newburgh's eleven hit the jackpot and pulled out an unexpected Ziccardi-to-Zowie pass.

Joe Lowe then took over and sent the stadium into an uproar as he booted the pigskin between the uprights, making it 7-6, infavor of Little David.

- The Ignatius encounter was one of the best games in Cleveland's scholastic schedule, although it ended with a 6-0 victory for the Wildcats, and squeezed the Namers out of a Charity Game berth. The hard-fought match between Holy Name and the Ignatius juggernaut thrilled even the concessionaires.
- Holy Name proved once more that no jinx can remain a jinx too long, by pouncing on a 13-0 victory from Lincoln.
- Dedicated to Moms and Dads, who were feted as honored guests at the game, the West High fray brought a final victory to HN, 12-6.

Left: Ray Calvey carries the pigskin across the field for a first down, followed closely by two Rhodes Rams.



Right: Short of a first down, Frank Manfredonia hits the turf.

Caught in his usual jovial mood is Joe Ziccardi, '49 football captain.

Joe captured several local honors, including "the Most Valuable Player Award" in the West Senate, The Press All-Scholastic rating, and U.B. All-Catholic honors.

CAPTAIN, TEAM

After summer practice sessions in Garfield Park, Holy Name's football team warmed up for the Senate Race, working as one machine with Coach Heglaw throwing the switch. Feet flying and every muscle tense for action, Little David met his foes.

Every morning most of the Green Wave team could be found attending Mass. With this spiritual power behind them they couldn't go wrong. Yes, they suffered more than one defeat, but that only made them more determined than ever to bring fame to Holy Name.

The Big Green were in the highlights all season long, defeating top Senate teams. Every boy on the team deserves first mention for clean sportsmanship, teamwork, and character.

AND NOISEMAKERS

Busy in the far-off corners of the locker room you can often find the two oldest managers.

Afterwards these unpraised heroes spend many back-breaking hours checking the football gear or cleaning the lockers.

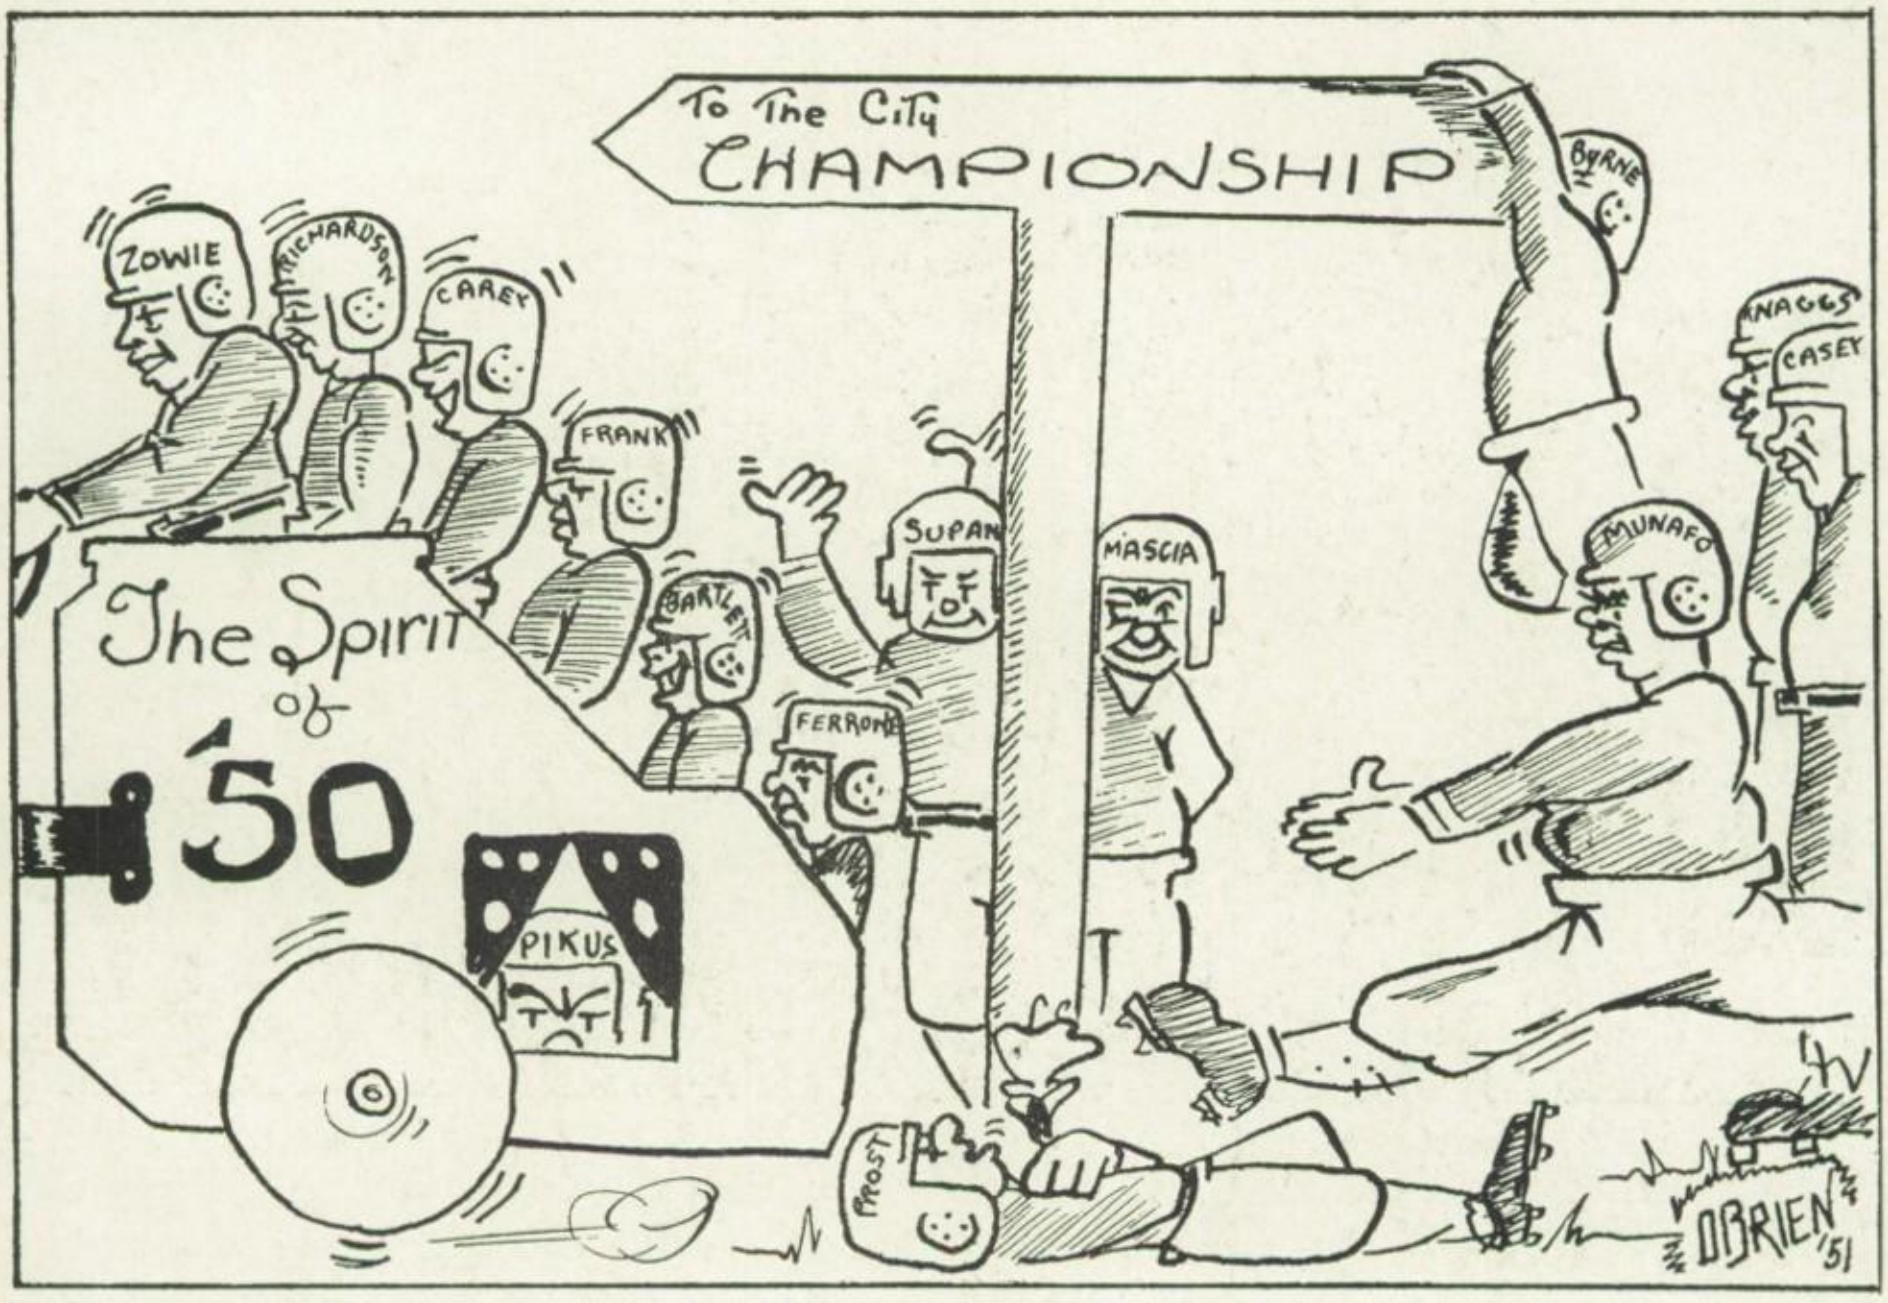
There is no glory in this task, so let us bring these violets into public view by introducing Ed Camille, the Adonis checking that First Aid Kit, and John Monczynski, the placid fellow counting towels over there.

On the Field during all the games for the past four years, these two Gunga Dins could be seen running wet towels to the heated players or scraping mud off of cleat-soled shoes.

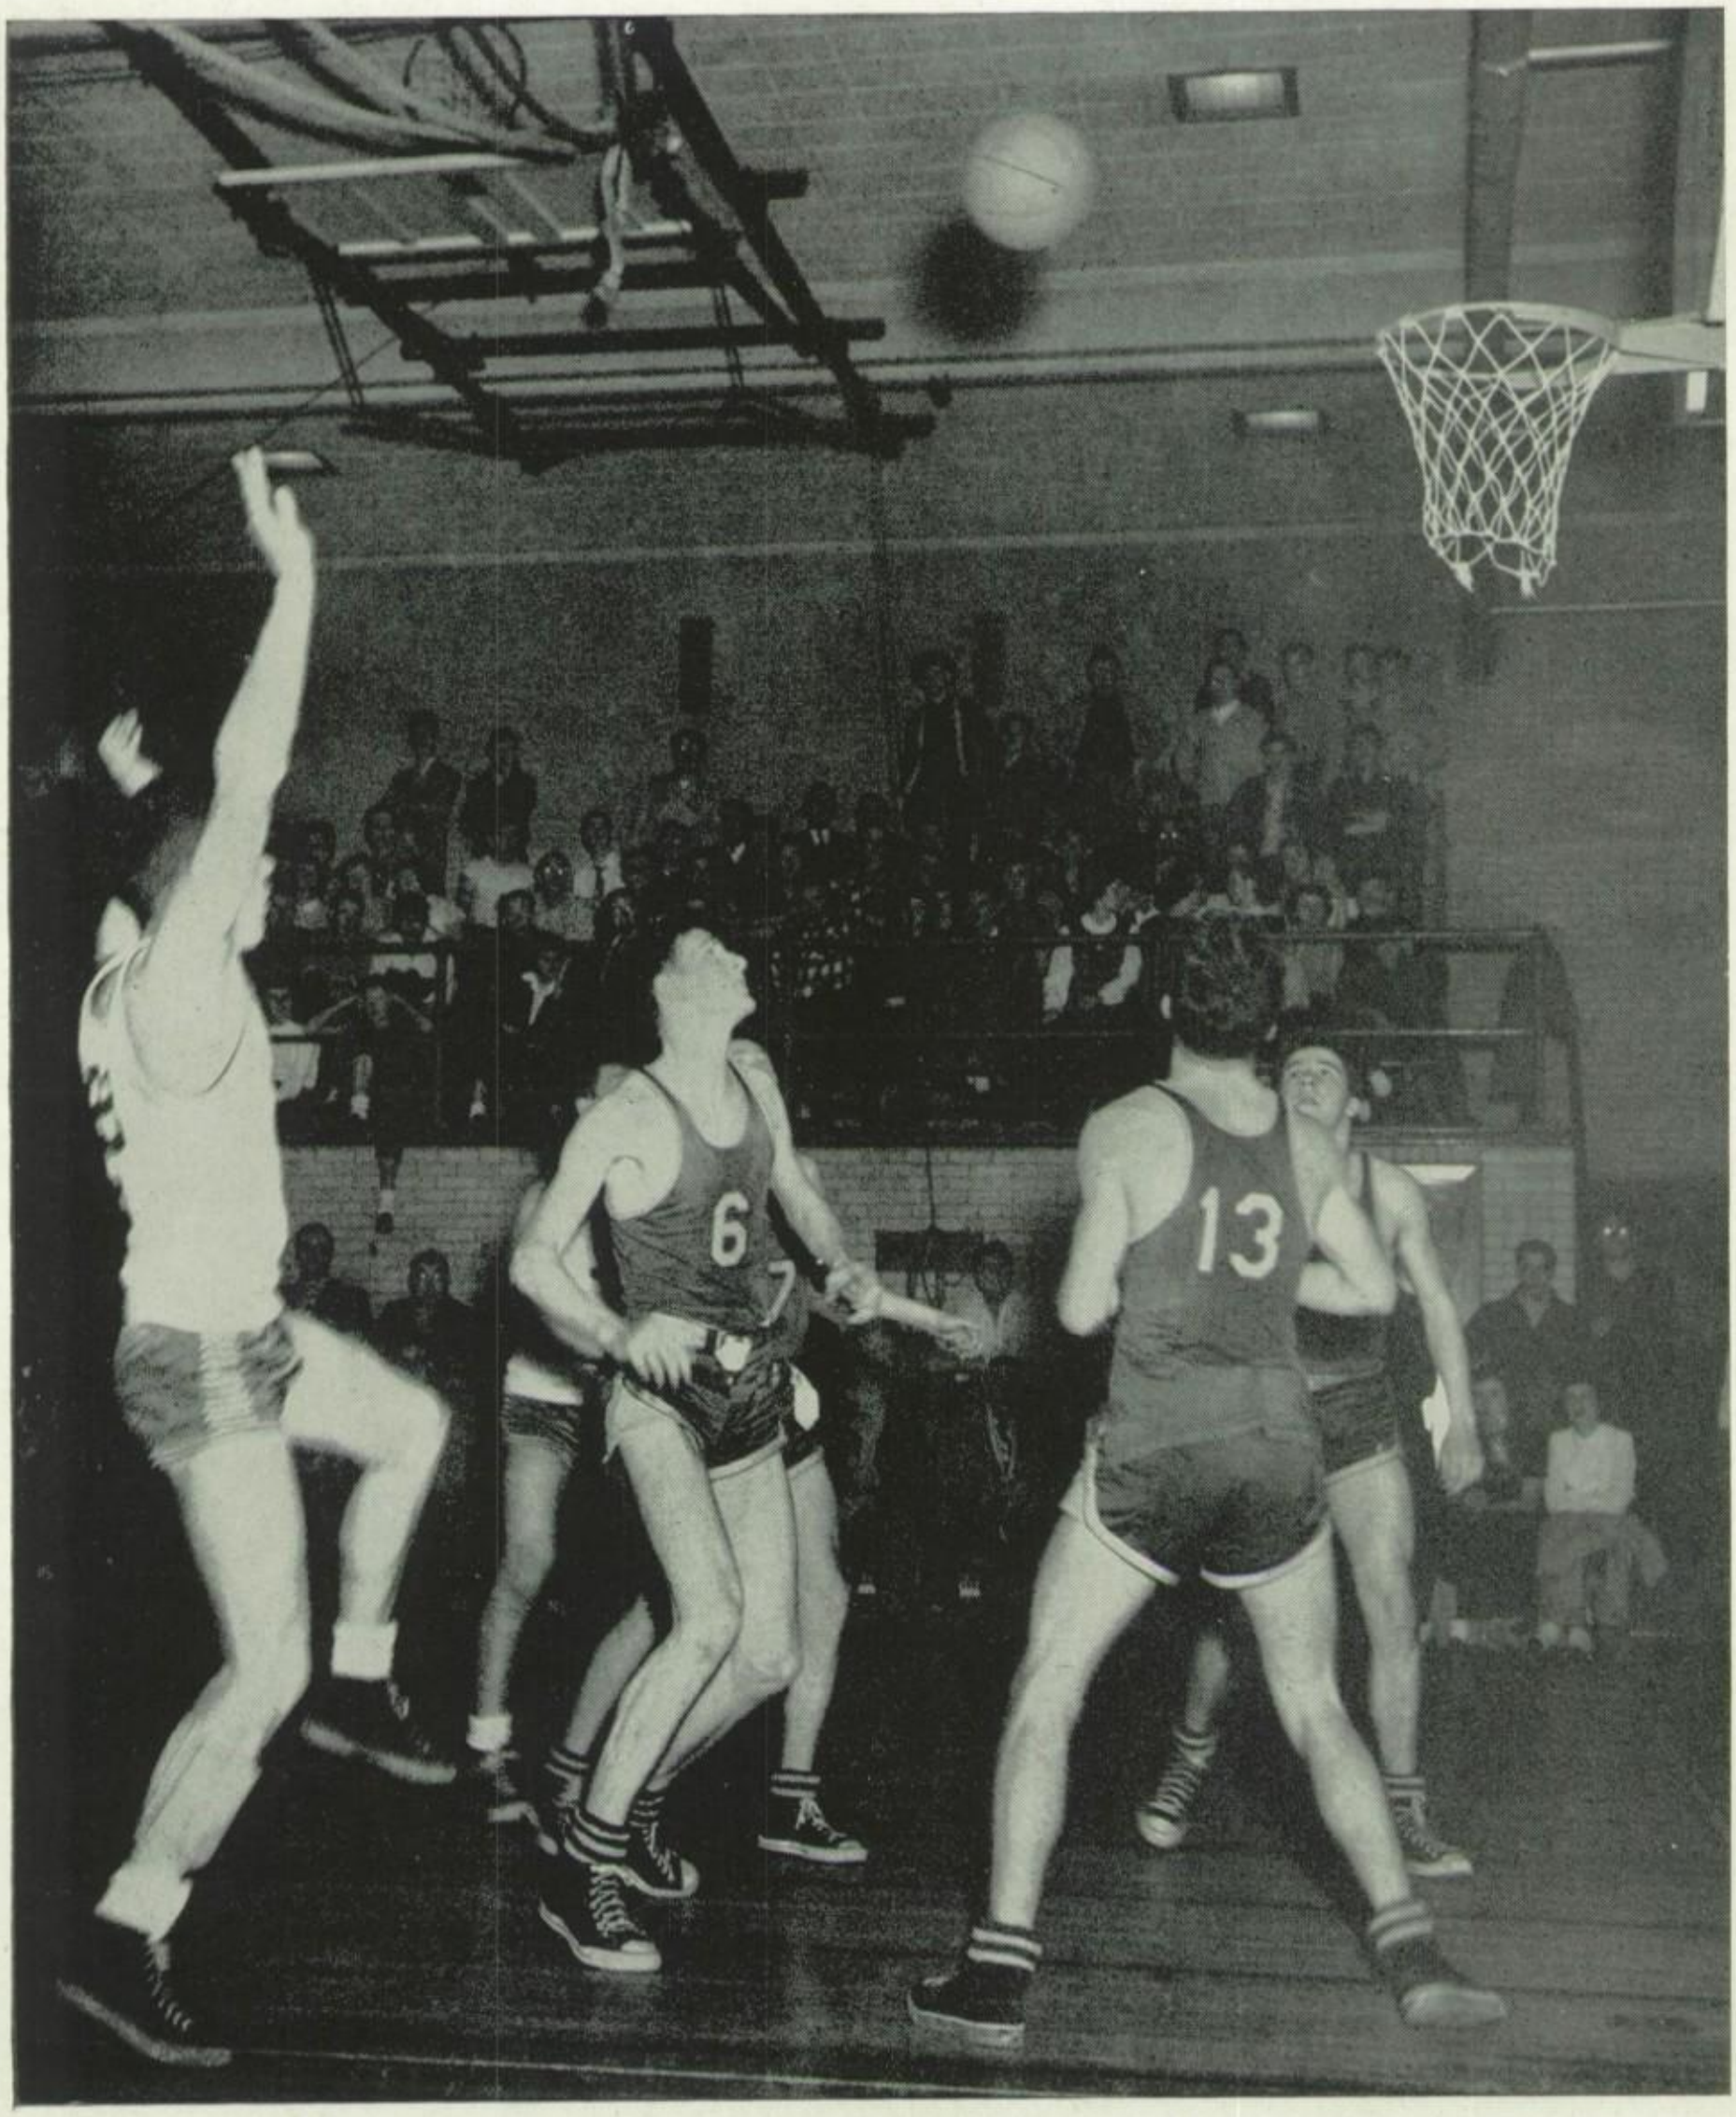
Hail to these Good Samaritans!

Members of the "vicious circle" are, clockwise from the top: Dan Terrion, Don Terrion, Jerry Kelly, and Joe Egan, veteran cheerleaders.

Occupying the center slot is "Smiling" Bill Chambers with a face that starts anyone cheering. The fellas are keeping up the traditional spirit.



AND THE SCORE HIKES ANOTHER NOTCH



Don Richardson, center for Holy Name, shoots for extra points against St. Ignatius Wildcats.

THE QUINTETS: VARSITY AND GRADERS

"Now this is what you make the points with, fellas," explains coach Moderick. Pictured with their genial mentor are Joe Ziccardi, Jim McGing, Bob Mencini, John Klecan, Tom McLaughlin, and John Monczynski, manager. The squad was paced in the scoring column by Joe Ziccardi and Bob Mencini, the later being captain of the Davids this year. As they did last year, the quintet appeared in the '50 district tournament at Berea. Other members of the group include Don Richardson, Bill Hearns, and Chuck Perkins.

With high hopes, the boys in white have trained rigorously to fulfill Frank Riessinger's dream of reigning over the West Senate Baseball League.

Paring off the pounds, the boys prance lightly as wood nymphs over the beaten path of the base line. As the Annual goes to press, our Adonises, ushered to the plate with a barrage of cheers, are preparing to swing from the heels for old HN.

It's too early for statistics as to scores, but our predictions are that Frank's charges will do well.

BASEBALL, VOLLEYBALL -- BODY BUILDERS

This year volleyball teams formed by the Girls Gym Leaders battled for a title. After class had met class, the winners played the Leaders themselves, and won. The girls listed below survived the rough action, and became the Champs for '49.

Top row: Georgia Malls, Gerry Malls, Eileen Flanagan.

Second row: Marjorie Tisch, Shirley Matlin, Mary Lou Schroeder.

First row: Shirley Adams, Irene Ruess, Winnie Krotine.

Basketball and baseball intramurals also keep the coeds in trim physical shape.

Moaning, groaning, gnashing of teeth and desperate screams of horror seep into the corridor near the Gym.

What? Torture? No, it's only Mr. Steve Polachek, boys' gym teacher, working kinks from muscles so loose the night before. The boys push, pull, grunt and groan.

Then come the sighs of relief as the welcome whistle blows for the end of class.

As they dress and leave the showers they feel like new men, which is reward enough for any gym teacher.

Echoes of "One, two!" resound in the hall as the boys receive a stiff workout. (Gym outfits mirror personal preferences!)

DAVID'S GRUNT AND GROAN DEPARTMENT

If some day you should feel listless, with no vim or vigor, don't buy vitamin pills just join one of Miss O'Leary's gym classes. They specialize in basketball, volleyball and gymnastics, and even take a fling at square dancing and reels.

The climax comes, however, on pleasant days, when, clad in green gym uniforms, HN lassies scamper outdoors to the practice field for a baseball workout.

Boys whose classrooms face Harvard would pay a quarter for the privelege of lining the windows to watch their coed Caseys at the bat!

'53'S GRID MACHINE IN THE MAKING

Meet HN's future Varsity! Bottom row: Ed McDonnel, Bryan Powers, John Halligan, James Cahill, Albert Zatorski, Francis Glivic, Jerry Cunningham.
Second row: Richard Cotler, Ed Berry, Raymond Macjiewski, Ronald Weisbarth, Mathew de Luca, Dan Michael, Charles Kriak, Ronald Karp, Henry Croft.
Top row: Joseph Wielogosiek, Tom Cullin, Ronald Michalek, Ronald Sutton, Bart Rhea, Larry Mako, Joe Ruf, Bernard Nadolski, Bob Andrus.

As the summer months approach, and football and basketball worries fly with the cold weather, Coach Frank Riessinger wakens from his winter hibernation, rolls out of the blankets, metaphorically speaking, and embarks on a new baseball season.

This fourth Coach in the quartette of HN varsity sports, who also is financial manager of the athletic department, has ably taught HN boys many little-known tricks of the trade which he acquired while playing pro baseball himself.

Time has not erased enthusiasm for the national sport in the Coach's soul. He proves this by giving his diamond demons as accurate and able coaching as they could find anywhere.

Francis Riessinger, financier of the Athletic Department, confers with the team physician, Dr. Paul Superfisky.

GUARD THEM, O LOVING MOTHER OF GOD

Placing their trust in God and Mary, members of the Varsity football squad, the Sisters, the Band, coaches, and priests meet for the medal ceremony before each game. Receiving their medals from Father Hughes are Bob Reilley and John Klecan, as the Sisters look on.

If you ever wonder what makes Holy Name so great, take a peek through the church doors before a game. Watch the Holy Name gridders solemnly leave their pews, one by one, clumping awkwardly, on cleats, to the altar rail to receive a blessed medal from one of the priests.

There is a short talk, a blessing, and then with glowing faces the boys stomp out to their bus. Deep in the heart of all other participants in the little ceremony there is a warm glow of faith, too. The result? Another Holy Name activity is viewed in the proper prospective.

GOODBYE, BROADWAY -- HELLO, WORLD!

ACT V.

Conclusion! The Big Question is settled definitely and forever. In a comedy, the hero and heroine are freed of entangling circumstances so they can live happily ever after. Jean and Jim used the opportunities school offered them as a preparation for alert Christian living, so they can smile as they say now, "Hello, World!" sure that they will "Live happily ever after."

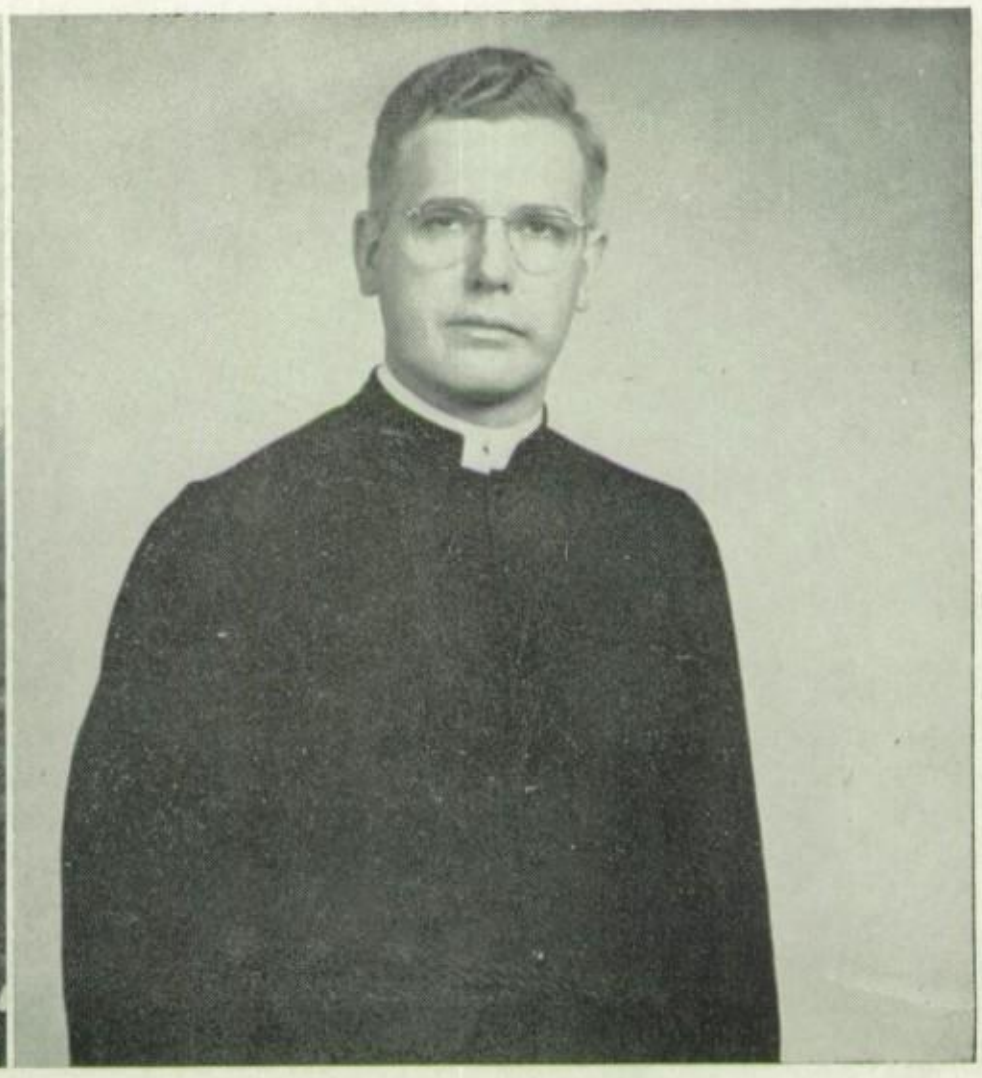
During the course of each year, about ten Namers enter seminaries and novitiates to serve God as priests, Brothers and Sisters.

This year, Noreen Hackett '49, Marian La Buda '48, and Patricia Vales '49, entered the novitiate of the Sisters of Charity, at Mt. St. Joseph, Ohio. Wearing the novice's habit at the Ursuline Convent, in Cleveland, is Mary Lou Basil '49, Sister Ann Seton. Ann Marie Sedlock '49, is already Sister Therese, of the convent of St. Francis.

Devoting themselves to study for the holy priesthood, since September, 1949, are Richard Behra, ex '52, Dan Rogers '49, and Dick Beaumont '49.

Tom Campbell '43, was ordained April 29, at St. John's Cathedral

SERVING GOD AS PRIESTS, RELIGIOUS



Alumni religious: Sister William Marie (Ruth Hunt '45) daughter of alunmi, and Brother Gonzaga C.S.C. (Tom Day '37,) one of the five Days to graduate from Holy Name.

A typical Holy Name bride is Mrs. Edward (Coletta Kramer '48) Strnad.

What do most modern Americans think of the sanctity of the home, of the sacramental quality of marriage, of the evils of divorce and broken families? A glance at the daily papers shows us.

Much of our country is as morally corrupt as ancient Rome was. And a country built on rotten foundations must fall . . .

In the hands of today's youth lies the power to save our country from annihilation. We can make America's tomorrow wholesome and God-minded by clinging to Christian social principles ourselves, and passing them on to our children.

Nine out of every ten of us will probably marry. What about our homes?

"Now I have a sheep and a cow, everybody bids me good morrow"

Centuries ago, thrifty citizens earned the respect of others just as they do today. Folks with property or cash-in-the-bank have a feeling of security and self-confidence that is felt by others and gains respect. A thrifty citizen is invariably a good citizen.

Over a hundred years ago Society for Savings was organized to encourage thrift. It has given protection of principal and uninterrupted dividends for over a hundred years. It welcomes savings depositors, large and small. Come in and learn how a Society Plan can help you build a savings account.
